Traynor Rites This Morning

A large number of relatives and friends attended the funeral of James H. Traynor, father of Harold ("Pie") Traynor, star third baseman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, in Arlington this morning.
A high mass of requiem was celebrated in Immaculate Conception church at 9 o'clock and the funeral was from the late home at 25 Fairmont street.
Mr. Traynor, well-known in the printing trade and a member of the Printers' Union, lived in Framingham when first married. Later the family moved to Somerville where it lived for a number of years. Several years ago the residence was changed to Arlington.
Besides his wife Lydia (Matthews), and son, Harold, Mr. Traynor leaves five other sons, Edward, Robert, Arthur, John and Charles, and a daughter, Miss M. Louise Traynor.

Study Club Enjoys Kavar's Violin Pupils

Anton Kavar, who for seven years has maintained a violin studio in Arlington presented four of his pupils in an unusually large group of violin quartettes at the open meeting of the Arlington Heights Study Club at Hamburg hall.
Liebesfreund by Kreisler; Romance by Wienawski; Tango by Gade; Ave Maria by Schubert, were beautifully played in original arrangements with Anton Kavar himself at the piano. The violinists were Florence Frost, Phyllis Nelson, Clara Waterfall and Purcell Lester.

Junior Holy Name Loses First Game

The newly organized Junior Holy Name, representing St. Agnes' Church played its first basketball game at the Junior High East gym against the Dillon Club. The Dillon club was victorious at the end of a very close game, the score being 21 to 19. At the half the Junior Holy Name was leading 13 to 8 but the Dillon Club gradually overcame this lead and the score was even until the last few minutes of play when Duke Burgess scored the winning basket. Holloway started for the Junior Holy Name and Burgess started for the Dillon club. Hereafter the Junior Holy Name will play all its games on Thursday at the Junior High East and there will be two games every Thursday the first game starting about 7:45 p. m.

To Pay Tribute To Coolidge In Local Churches

Pastors in the various Arlington Churches will pay tribute to the memory of Ex-President Calvin Coolidge, whose burial takes place today, at the services tomorrow.
Rev. William Shaw, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, announced yesterday that the subject for his sermon at the Morning Worship tomorrow morning at 10:45 o'clock would be "The Man and Statesman." Instead of the previously announced subject, Rev. Shaw will touch upon the highlights of the life of Calvin Coolidge whom the world mourns today.
Not only are the local churches paying special attention to the death of the great President but everywhere, on all municipal buildings of the town, flags have been lowered at half-staff as a mark of respect to the memory of Massachusetts' Greatest Son.

Business Men Meet Tuesday

Problems facing the business man in Arlington will be discussed at the next meeting of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce, commercial division, in Wyman's English tavern next Tuesday noon.
A luncheon will be served at 12:15 p. m. and this will be followed by an informal meeting. There will be no speaker so that every business man and business woman present will have an opportunity to voice his or her opinion on any subject of mutual interest to those present.
Charles F. McManus, chairman of the commercial division will preside at the meeting and is eager for a one hundred percent attendance.

A O H Auxiliary Enjoys Party

An enjoyable New Year's party was conducted by the Arlington A. O. H. auxiliary last Wednesday evening. Dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.
Prizes were awarded for the best glide dancers to Mrs. Catherine Holian and Mrs. Alice Daley. Mrs. Margaret Doland and Mrs. Katherine O'Connell won prizes for the best Highland Fling.

Interesting Facts About Ship Carrying Local Youth

Sailing on the high seas today is an Arlington youth, Donald A. McDonald by name. Who is aboard the U. S. S. Hovey, a 1200 ton destroyer built as part of the 1916 Naval program.
McDonald was born February 22, 1912 in Somerville and first enlisted on June 24, 1929. He has already completed several courses while in training. Here are a few interesting facts about the destroyer:
The Hovey was built by William Cramp & Sons, Philadelphia, and was commissioned on October 2, 1929.
After a brief "shake down" cruise to Key West and Newport, R. I., she departed for Europe, spending her first Christmas in the Azores Islands. She operated in France, England, and Scotland until May, 1920, when she went into the Mediterranean. She operated in the Mediterranean and the Black Sea until December, 1920, when she departed for the Asiatic Station via Suez. Hovey operated in the Asiatic Station until January, 1923, when she returned to the United States and on 1 February, 1923, was commissioned at the Destroyer Base, San Diego.
On 20 February, 1930, Hovey was reconditioned and is now in Destroyer Division Twelve, of Squadron Four, Destroyers, Battle Force, normally based in the Pacific. She carries eight officers and one hundred eighteen men.
The Hovey is named for the late Ensign Charles Emerson Hovey. Hovey was a clergyman's son, born in Portsmouth, New Hampshire, in 1885. He entered the Naval Academy through a competitive examination.

RECOMMEND FULL SALARIES IF BUDGET REJECTED

While the aldermen met in committee of the whole to further consider the budget last night, not an item in the budget was taken up, the entire evening being devoted to discussion of the general subject as to whether or not the committee should proceed with the budget as recommended by the mayor, or whether it should be returned to the mayor and the five and ten per cent voluntary contributions should be substituted for the plan suggested by the mayor. In this connection, some other phases of the budget came up.
At 10:30 the committee adjourned to meet again at the call of the chairman.
Will Place Blame
Mayor Burke again declared that if the board rejected the budget which he had submitted, he would, within a few days, submit another budget in which he would recommend payment of the full amount of salaries as called for by ordinance, and that the increase in the tax rate which would thereby result would be placed squarely upon the heads of the aldermen.
President Norton was confined to his home by illness and Alderman Robert N. Spofford presided as ranking member of finance. Alderman Wellington was absent through illness.

He then replied to the uncompromising remarks which had been made regarding the special committee's report. He said the committee had acted only to make recommendations for the consideration of the mayor and aldermen for the purpose of reducing costs. He charged the mayor's plan would not create efficiency by laying men off, that it would mean undermining the efficiency of the police force by taking additional men away from work. He declared that if the

Arlington Lights

After a surprising victory over Rindge last week Arlington High Hockey team is going to draw a lot more spectators today than otherwise would have been interested. It was a question as to which was the most surprising. The victory or the score.

If by any chance Arlington has a good hockey team this year, it will be a team which occurs only so often in every circle. Today will prove whether or not this team is one of those exceptional teams.

Every so often a team pops up that does not seem to have any fast skaters. They do not seem to have any exceptionally brilliant men on the team yet they seem to win with ease even over a team which outclasses them the major part of a game.

One line is fast, the next is strong. They break their way through the defense. The third line is small, slow, but very tricky. They pass all around the defense. It was this line that did most of the scoring.

From our observation of the game it looks like Arlington has the edge on replacements. The other teams will probably score first and early against Arlington, but the heavier and more frequent substitutions by Arlington will give them many late game wins.

The fireworks today will be the Belmont-Melrose game.

Local Boy Wins National Prize

Stanley Snowden, 84 Park avenue was today chosen as one of America's champion boy whittlers in the Second National Whittling Contest. This nationwide contest is held annually among boys America over. Boy Scouts, young whittlers and knife craftsmen from this group of a half million boys annually match their skill and patience against one another for one of the prizes and the national honor their winning model will bring them.
Snowden was awarded third prize by the judging committee of nationally known Scout Executives who were: Frederick Cooke, Jr., Director of Licenses, National Council of Boy Scouts; G. Barrett Rich, member of Executive Board of the National Council of B. S. A., and Milton C. Guggenheimer, member of Executive Board of Region No. 2 of the B. S. A.
Hundreds of models of ships, plaques, totem poles, statuettes, airplanes, fans, animals and a host of others were received from every state in the union. First prize was won by Bill Hamerick of Murray, Ky., with a beautifully carved plaque of a hunting scene.

Cambridge Pastor To Preach Here

The "Setting Off" of the parish from the Mother Church in Cambridge will be honored on that day. Anthems by the choir and special organ selections will be featured. The public is cordially invited to attend this service which is part of the 200th anniversary celebration of the parish.

The Church School will be held at 9:30 a. m. and the Kindergarten will meet at 10:30 under the supervision of a trained teacher. Morning Worship will be at 10:45 a. m.

Last Sunday, three ministers taking part in the service preceding the Communion, marked 43 years of continuous ministry, or one-fourth of the parish's history. They were Rev. John Nicol Marjorie, present minister; Rev. Augustus M. Lord, D. D., of Providence, who was here from 1887 to 1892; Rev. Frederick I. C. Gill, now minister emeritus, who was minister from 1892 to 1927. An historical exhibit, including a tancard taken by a British soldier on April 19, 1775, from the home of one of the Deacons of the parish, attracted much praise. This was in charge of Miss Whittemore.

American Theatre Society To Offer Sparkling Comedy

"There's Always Juliet," the latest comedy by John Van Druten, the brilliant English dramatist, will be the welcome attraction at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, for two weeks commencing Monday, January 9th, as the first play of the second subscription series of the American Theatre Society. Violet Heming and Roger Pryor, two of our stage's most brilliant artists, will be the co-stars of the occasion.
"There's Always Juliet" is but one of the many fine plays by Van Druten to find favor with audiences here and abroad, others being "Young Woodley," "After All," "London Wall," "Return of the Soldier." Of them all, "Young Woodley," some seasons ago, and "There's Always Juliet" both this season and last, occasioned the most applause. The latter contains the same freshness of viewpoint, authenticity of characterization, insight into life and living that have marked his many other works; besides, it is more plentifully sprinkled with laughter, adorned with gayness.

The setting of the play is present day London; its persons, young folks, alert, self-contained, aggressive in the manner of youth of today. They are all English, with the exception of a young American architect sojourning abroad. It is he who falls madly, tempestuously in love with a bright young London girl who he meets casually at a cocktail party; she instantly shares the same passion. With them it is love-at-first sight—headlong, precipitous. The exceedingly amusing complications of the play have to do with their meeting the flaunting complications that swiftly arise; with their settling their house of love in order. Van Druten's dialogue is taut, pungent; his situations interesting, plausible.

Miss Heming and Mr. Pryor play the two leading parts; they play them expertly, ever eagerly for fun. There are two other impersonations of fine quality by Lillian Brennan Tonge and John Graham Spacey. "There's Always Juliet" is said to be a delicious compound of fetching comedy sequences and delicately nuanced impersonations.

All Past Records Broken At Robbins Public Library During Year Just Ended — Total of 308,433 Books Circulated Last Year—Library Hall Used By Several Organizations—Exhibits Attracted Many—Budget For 1933 To Be Lower Than Previous Year

The year 1932 has marked the breaking of all past records at the Robbins public library in Arlington.
Despite the fact that the past year has been the most successful in the history of the library, the board of trustees and head librarian, Mrs. Lucinda F. Spofford are asking for a lower appropriation this year. The budget for 1933 will soon be in the hands of the Finance Committee.
Reviewing the year's activities yesterday, Mrs. Spofford expressed herself as highly pleased with the past year's record. The year 1932 has seen a gain of 52,123 books in library circulation, or a 45 per cent increase over 1931. A total of 308,433 books were used last year, according to Mrs. Spofford. There were 2,893 new users of books during the year just ended. There was an eight per cent increase in circulation, which is a remarkable gain. Five years ago the circulation was only four per cent.
Although the chief purpose of the library is to circulate books, the Robbins Library has been the center of countless educational activities during the past year. Among the groups which have availed themselves of the opportunity to meet in the Junior Library hall are: The Stamp Club, the Arlington Garden club, the Southern Middlesex Health association, the Women's Peace

George White's New Operetta Coming To Boston Opera House

George White, whose annual "Scandals" have been theatrical high-lights for the last fifteen years, will launch his first pretentious production of the season, "Melody," on the stage of the Boston Opera House for a week commencing Monday evening, January 9th. "Melody" is a colorful and melodiously entrancing musical with a score by Sigmund Romberg, a book by Edward Childs Carpenter, and lyrics by Irving Caesar.

"Melody" will be on view for the edification of Boston playgoers prior to its New York engagement. In line with the times, Mr. White has established a popular scale of prices for "Melody." Prices evenings will range from 75 cents to $3.00. The matinee prices on Wednesday and Saturday will be from 50 cents to $2.50.

Mr. White, who has always enriched his casts with a plenitude of stellar names, has outdone himself by the splendid company of artists he has assembled for "Melody." Six stars, each of whose names alone is enough to carry a show, divide honors in this new George White musical. They are Evelyn Herbert, Everett Marshall, Walter Woolf, Jeanne Aubert, Hal Skyles, George Houston, Ina Ray, Vivian Fay, Louise Kirkland, Victor Morley. Others in the company of more than one hundred include Mildred Parissette, Valerie Bergere, Milton Douglas, Harrison Brockbank, Michael Dalmatoff, Neil Moore, Milton LeRoy, Rose Louise, Jerome Daly, Venita Varden and Marjorie Dill. A feature will be a contingent of fifty typical George White beauties.

Evelyn Herbert is best remembered for her roles in "Princess Flavia," "My Maryland," and "New Moon." Walter Woolf was the star of "Lady in Ermine" and last season won histrionic honors in "Experience Unnecessary." Everett Marshall, former baritone of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, scored an overnight success in the last edition of George White's "Scandals," Jeanne Aubert, pert French comedienne, was featured in "Ballyhoo of 1932." Hal Skyles is best remembered as the stellar luminary of "Barlesque." George Houston was the outstanding personality of the musical version of "Cyrano."

In two acts and fifteen scenes, "Melody" is an admixture of lilt, melody, tense drama and hearty laughs.
Sigmund Romberg, who wrote such outstanding hits in the past as the "Student Prince," "Blossom Time," "Desert Song," and "New Moon," has written one of his better scores for "Melody." Edward Childs Carpenter, who contrived the book, authored among other works, "Bachelor Father," and "Whistling in the Dark." Irving Caesar is conceded by one of the best and most humorous of the Broadway lyricists.
Bobby Connolly, who staged dances for "Take a Chance," performed a similar service for "Melody." Joseph Urban designed the settings, Charles La Miere created the costumes, and Al Goodman has created a new orchestral and vocal technique for the musical. George White has supervised the entire production.

Rally Brings 25-14 Victory To Local High

The Arlington High School basketball five won its second game of the season, last night turning back Cambridge Latin, 25 to 14, at the Arlington High gym. At the close of the first half, Cambridge Latin had an 11 to 8 advantage, but Arlington went ahead in the third period 17-12 and won comfortably.

The Cambridge Latin seconds beat the Arlington seconds, 25 to 15. The first-team game summary:

Women's Christian League Sews For Red Cross Weekly

The Women's Christian League of the Marion Street Congregational church will meet on Wednesday evening at the church. Plans for the coming months will be made.

This group is doing a worthwhile work in sewing for the Red Cross. Each week about 15 women come together at the home of the president, Mrs. Dwight C. Barrows, 49 Wareham street, Medford. Tea and coffee are served by Mrs. Barrows to complete the luncheon brought by the workers. In addition to the work done by the group, other women are sewing at home, thus accomplishing a large amount of work for this worthy cause.

On Wednesday afternoon a number of the women of the League with their friends will visit the Family Laundry in Malden under the direction of Miss Jennie Carter.

Christmas And New Year's Party For S. of U. V.

Auxiliary 54, Sons of Union Veterans held a Christmas Party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Gibson of Medford street. It was a family party and there were fifteen children present with their parents.

The children sang carols and a Christmas tree bore gifts for all.

Frank E. Metcalf took the part of Santa Claus. Comrade Streeter was an honored guest. A fine collation was served by the hostess.

The Camp and Auxiliary were invited to a New Year's party to be held at the home of Mr. Metcalf of Newton. Many attended. Coffee, sandwiches and cake were served and Camp 54 ushered in the New Year with resolutions of good fellowship and perseverance for the coming year.

Hand Made Quilts And Rugs To Be Shown at First M. E.

Much interest is aroused among Medford housewives in the hand made quilt and rug exposition which will be held in the First Methodist church chapel on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

Both old and new quilts and rugs will be exhibited and ribbons will be awarded to the best in each class.

The prizes will be awarded by popular vote, each article being numbered and prizes going to those having the most votes.

The admission to the exposition will be small and tea will be served. Home cooked food will be on sale.

Mrs. Carl C. Clarke, chairman of the Ways and Means committee of the Missionary Society of the church which is sponsoring this annual affair, is in charge and will be glad to receive exhibits from all Medford women whether members of the parish or not.

Thursday Fortnightly Club Sews for Welfare

At the initial meeting of the year Thursday Fortnightly Club members turned out in generous numbers to meet over bowl and thimble and sew on garments for the unemployed.

The president, Mrs. Bessie S. Neill referred to the activities of the evening as being in keeping with the purpose for which the club was founded, the present Thursday Fortnightly club being an outgrowth of a knitting unit for Red Cross service in war times. Mrs. Neill also paid tribute to the lately departed ex-president Calvin Coolidge.

The hospitality committee kept the "bowls" filled with oyster stew and served crackers and relishes. The following committee was in charge: Mrs. Mary Guiney, Mrs. Agnes Redgate, Mrs. Ida LaBelle, Mrs. Ellen Rubie.

Make Progress

Progress was the keynote of the meeting of Troop 11, Wellington.

Poem

No man was ever meanly born.
About his cradle is the wonderful miracle of life.
He may descend into the depths—
He may live in infamy and perish miserably—
But he is born great.
Men build monuments above the graves of their heroes,
But women seek out the birthplace and build their shrine,
Not where a great life has its ending,
But where it had its beginning.

The students reported at the high school about 15 minutes late.

Tea for Press Chairmen At Headquarters

Mrs. Reuben Gleason Jr., chairman of the department of press and publicity of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, with members of her committee, will be "at home" to press chairmen, club editors and other publicity minded club women next Monday afternoon from 2 to 4.30 o'clock at state federation headquarters, 687 Boylston street, Boston. The affair will be the first of a series of teas and informal discussions to be sponsored on the second Monday of each month for the purpose of furthering correct press and publicity work.

The January meeting of the Sarah Bradlee Fulton Chapter, D. A. R., was held as usual at the Slave Quarters of the Royal House.

The regent, Mrs. Myrtle P. Norton opened the meeting by asking Mattie C. Early to lead the devotions, followed by the salute to the flag.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. Norton presented Mrs. Grace B. Allen, chairman of "Better Film" committee.

Mrs. Allen gave an able review of the subject stating many facts with regard to the moving picture industry.

The moving pictures are not like the radio under Federal control. The films are distributed only in blocks to exhibitors, these blocks include both desirable and undesirable films. The Brookmart Bill, Senate Bill 3770 is soon to come before Congress. This bill, in part, concerns the distribution of films. Mrs. Allen read and explained the bill and the chapter voted to favor the bill and to send word to that effect to the Massachusetts Congressmen and to Senator Brookhart.

The moving pictures have great dramatic appeal and wonderful educational and cultural possibilities, and may provide a wholesome, and economical entertainment for the people.

Mrs. Clara T. Guild was prepared to conduct the discussion that followed.

Mrs. Virginia Thompson, member of Isabel Arnold Dame music club and Miss Helen Thompson, soprano at the Episcopal church, Brookline, delightfully rendered several groups of songs with Mrs. Norton accompanying on the piano.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Miss Martha A. Soule, Mrs. Lydia Buxton and Mrs. Helen A. Ellis.

Service of the Medford Laundry Very Popular

Any day of the week call Mystic 1557 and eliminate your wash day cares. A phone call to this number with the simple request to have the driver call at your home will immediately get you in touch with one of the finest and most efficient laundries in the metropolitan area. The Medford Laundry is located at 15 Crescent street, Medford.

This laundry is known throughout Greater Boston for the excellence of the work and service it affords the housewives of Medford, Arlington, Malden, Belmont, Somerville, Melrose and other towns and cities located within 20 miles of their plant. All together drivers are covering twenty different towns with several routes in each place.

The equipment used at the Medford Laundry is not the old type wash tub style which wears the clothes until nothing is left but shreds. Each piece of machinery used in this plant is of the best type and with this material to work with the owners of the Medford Laundry are insuring their patrons of the best work at the lowest cost and with the best results.

The Medford Laundry does all kinds of washing including damp wash, fluff dry, thrifty and finished work and other special services. Just call the Medford Laundry on the phone or speak to the driver and your needs will be promptly attended to.

Giroux Bros. Milk Meets High Test Required By State

Mothers, in buying their children's clothing, carefully inspect the goods to be sure they are not harmful to the tender skin of the little ones.

As the children grow in years these same mothers insist upon quality in the manufacture of the clothing for these young people.

How does this same mother act in the selection of a concern to deliver milk daily to the home?

In many cases the head of the household takes it for granted that one milk concern is as good as another, and just lets it go at that. Little does she realize that in the milk-buying she is handling a matter deserving of minute inspection.

With this in mind the Giroux Brothers, at 17 Gilman street, one of Somerville's leading dairy distributors, have taken unusual pains to maintain a high standard in the milk distributed from their plant.

Although the state requires certain standards for the milk which is sold publicly the Giroux Brothers' dairy has always maintained a rating a great deal higher than the state board demands. This step taken by this dairy in caring for the health of its customers has made it one of the most popular milk concerns in this vicinity.

Daily, men and women in Medford and nearby cities are calling Somerset 5535 and asking that the Giroux Brothers' delivery wagon make a stop at their door.

Kitchen-Cup-lets
 by Della Taylor

When boys and girls are home from school, they all go by the self same rule; When late at night they cease to dance The ice box lures, to try their chance.

Why is it that food always tastes so delicious when you sneak into the kitchen in the wee sma' hours and raid the ice box? Probably that hidden thought that it might not be too good for you (human nature is like that, you know, in grown ups as well as the kids) combined with the informality has a lot to do with it. And anyway, it is always so much fun to forage around and unearth all kinds of little snacks that have been tucked away in mysterious places.

A wise mother will think ahead and always plan to have a supply of ingredients on hand. By doing this, she may be able to inveigle her wandering children into coming home instead of going to a restaurant for that always so necessary Midnight Snack. If she often retires before the young people arrive, she should have one section of the refrigerator reserved for this kind of food. This will let them know just what they may take and will mean that she will not be left high and dry without any eggs for breakfast or cream for the morning coffee.

If there is cold meat left over from the family dinner, sandwiches will be in order that night. When there is no cold meat, be sure that the next choice will be eggs, as eggs make such fascinating late-at-night dishes. And, of course, there will always be someone who just longs for a Welsh Rarebit—so you had better keep some cheese, wrapped in waxed paper, some place in your refrigerator. If no one wants a Welsh Rarebit you will find that someone will use it to make a Toasted Cheese Sandwich.

Bread, crackers, cold crispy cereals, tomatoes, lettuce, cheese, fruit, milk and cold meats are things to always have on hand. They will make the foundation for many tempting dishes.

and will do much toward appeasing that half-starved feeling.

Here is a recipe for a Cheese Fondue which will taste mighty good some cold, wintry night:

Cheese Fondue
 1 tablespoon butter 1 cup of bread crumbs
 1 cup of milk 2 cups grated cheese
 1 tablespoon mustard 2 eggs
 a pinch of salt

Melt butter and then add milk, bread crumbs and cheese. Season to taste. Cook a little in a double boiler. Serve on toast or crackers.

Another recipe to try is this one for:

French Toast
 2 eggs 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 cup of milk

Mix above ingredients together well. Dip a slice of bread into some of the mixture, which has been poured into a soup plate. Continue adding mixture and dipping slices until a dozen have been used. Let stand; spread on a platter for half an hour, then toast or fry on both sides. Serve very hot with powdered sugar.

Most people have a recipe for waffles but, in case you have not, here is my own pet one:

Waffles
 2 eggs 1/2 large tablespoon butter
 1/2 pt. cream 1/4 teaspoon baking powder or milk 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 pt. water Flour to thicken

Beat whites and yolks of eggs separately. Melt the butter, stir it into the yolks and add the salt, milk and whites of eggs, stirring well. Beat in quickly the flour, a little of which should be mixed with the baking powder. Have batter thin enough to pour.

Did you ever try Goldenrod Toast? It is simple to make and is really quite different from the usual kind of toast.

Goldenrod Toast
 Use one egg to one slice of toast. Hard boil the eggs. Cut the whites into small pieces and mix with a thick cream sauce. Cover toast with cream sauce and sprinkle top with yolks of eggs, which have been put through a fine sieve.

Only Bridge 'Dummy' Is Served!

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
 Director, Helix Food Institute

HAVE you been to one of the new style bridge parties where one must be "dummy" to be served? Food is placed upon a table at one end of the room or in the dining room and when one is dummy, he goes to the table and serves himself. This is not as lonesome as it sounds for usually several "dummies" are congregated around the table. This idea saves the hostess the flurry of preparing food during the evening, for the supper is ready and on the table before the playing starts. This method of serving has been used at some most delightful bridges. Here are some menus:

Iced Tomato Juice Lemonade
Relish plate containing Ripe Mission Olives, Radish Roscs, Stuffed Eggs and Gherkin Fans
Tiny Tomatoes Stuffed with Anchovy Butter
Sardine, Chopped Pickle and Mayonnaise Sandwiches
Sliced Cucumber, Cream Cheese and Horseradish Sandwiches
Small Frosted Cakes

Small Open Sandwiches Platter of Miniature Fruit Salads
 Cut bread in fancy shapes, toast on one side and spread with any of the following:
 a. Sandwich Spread, Chopped Hard Cooked Eggs, Strips of Piment.
 b. Chopped Ripe Olives, Celery and Mayonnaise.
 c. Flaked Tuna Fish, Chopped Pickle, Horseradish and Mayonnaise.

Layer Cake Lemonade or Coffee

In the first menu, the bottle of chilled tomato juice is put in a dish or crock partially filled with ice, and placed on the table to be poured as desired. The lemonade pitcher, with glasses, is placed anywhere that is convenient on the table, and the other foods, with suitable serving silver, are arranged informally on the table. This lunch looks and tastes delicious.

In the second menu small servings of a mixed fresh fruit salad are arranged in tiny cups of lettuce and placed on a platter with salad plates and forks nearby. A bowl of Mayonnaise Salad Dressing and sweetened whipped cream, combined in equal quantities, is also conveniently near. The other foods are arranged much as in first menu.

New Furniture For Old

By RUTH SARLES

DO you ever take inventory of your home—take stock of your possessions? Do you ever look at your furniture, walls and floors as critically as an observant stranger?

It's a good thing to do now and then. When you become so accustomed to furniture that you hardly notice it, you're not getting all the pleasure out of your home that you should. It's important to enjoy everything in your surroundings, and if you don't do so—consciously—it's time to change the scenes with that magic known as color.

Suppose the breakfast nook furniture is badly scratched and you are a little weary of the color scheme. A smooth coat of lacquer or enamel will make the chairs and table look new. Perhaps your kitchen walls are painted a soft, sunny cream, and the woodwork is ivory. Why not have your breakfast set painted a periwinkle blue and recast the woodwork to match?

Suppose you wish to improve the appearance of a piece of furniture with a natural finish—a walnut or mahogany table or chair. Clean the article well, then rub it down with fine sandpaper and dust it off thoroughly. After that, give it two coats of varnish and it will look like new.

If you should wish to make the finish lighter, remove the varnish with varnish remover and apply a solvent to draw out some of the stain. When you obtain the desired shade, apply a new coating of varnish.

If a piece of furniture is not badly marred—merely scratched a little—rub it down with boiled linseed oil a few times and the scratches will be imperceptible.

Furniture that has a natural wood finish may be enameled or lacquered. If you have painted furniture that you would like to change to a natural wood finish, apply a paint remover and rub off the old paint. When it is dry, sandpaper the wood very thoroughly, dust, and brush on the desired shade of stain, then varnish.

Enjoy your home to the utmost. Get all the pleasure you can out of this business of living.

Justice for Olives

BOTH ripe and green olives contain abundant quantities of Vitamin A according to the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture which has completed a series of laboratory feeding tests conducted to determine this fact.

"Vitamin A," says the Department, "is particularly important to our nutritive well-being, for it protects the body against a number of troublesome bacterial infections."

"Foods having a yellow or green color are usually rich sources of this vitamin. About seven medium-sized olives will supply as much vitamin A as an eighth of a cup of whole milk, or as a serving of the bleached lettuce leaves that usually appear in a salad."

A Taste Worth Acquiring
 A liking for olives is said to be an acquired taste, but, according to this, it's a taste worth acquiring. The Bureau of Home Economics found olives an important source of the other vitamins, but because they are a rich source of vitamin A it recommends that both green and ripe olives be used more, not only as an appetizer, but in cooked dishes, salads, sandwiches and sauces.

So let's do justice to olives and serve them in these ways for the sake of their vitamin A content as well as their taste. And don't forget that some of the best olives you ever tasted, green, minced, ripe or stuffed, all come in cans.

OVERSEAS ASTHMA Preparation
 Brookville, Kansas, Dec. 14, 1932
 Inclosed find money order for which please send me two bottles of the Overseas Asthma Preparation. Your Overseas Asthma Preparation has done my wife a world of good and I hope it will continue so that she will not have to use so much medicine any more and that has been a good many different kinds which have never done the good that your preparation has.

My wife can sleep good nights now which she hasn't been able to do for four or five years and her appetite is better. She is not taking the O. A. P. regular now for the last couple weeks, only twice a day.

I hope she will never get so bad again and I hope that other asthma sufferers may find out the relief that your Overseas Asthma Preparation gives.

Beet Borscht
Looks and Tastes Good

GORGEOUS looking and appetizing and unusual, are correct adjectives for this soup. Many careful tests have resulted in a recipe you can depend on.

Not many people have enjoyed the distinctive and different flavor of beet borscht. When they do, they are its friends forever! You are almost sure to be complimented on having thought of it. The evaporated milk and lemon juice together achieve a delicious and subtle degree of tartness. The seasoning, too, has a large bearing on the excellent result. Instead of beets, cabbage and tomato (combined), beet greens, or spinach may be made into a borscht, using the milk in the same way.

Beet Borscht.
 3 beets 2 egg yolks
 1 onion 1/2 cup evaporated milk
 4 cups water 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
 1 tsp. sugar

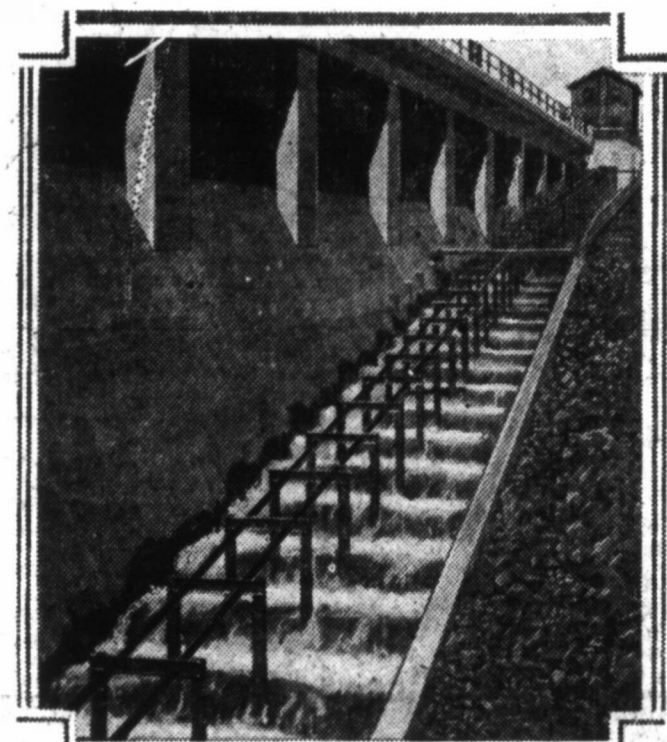

Cut beets into strips or slices and cook until soft with onion, salt and sugar. While warm, add slowly mixture of well beaten egg yolks and milk to thicken. Flavor with lemon juice. May be served hot or cold. Yield: 6 servings.

This recipe is well worth keeping. The brilliancy of the beet borscht adds so much to the color scheme of the table, and contrasts especially well with yellow or green dishes. It is splendid for "peasant luncheon" ideas when plaid table cloths are used.

Ladders for Fish

Courtesy of Stone & Webster Engineering Corp., Designers & Builders.

It probably never occurred to you that fish can climb ladders, but since salmon has come into so great prominence as a source equal to cod liver oil for vitamin A and approximately twice as good as a source of vitamin D, more trouble than ever is being taken in the cultivation and propagation of these fish.

The latest thing is fish ladders which are enabling Columbia River salmon to get over the great Rock Island Dam across the river near Wenatchee when they come home to spawn after years in the ocean.

These ladders consist of a series of pools twenty feet wide, ten feet long, and rising one foot above the next. The total rise is fifty feet in a distance of five hundred feet, and one of the sights of Central Washington recently has been watching big salmon leap from pool to pool at a rate faster than a man can walk up the adjoining incline.

Don't Lose Breath
 The fish don't even lose their breath as they roll up the ladders, but the word "breath" reminds us of the French word "soufflé." Here is the recipe for a delicious

Salmon Soufflé: Turn one 10½-ounce can of strained cereal into a double boiler, and heat. Then add the flaked contents of a one-pound can of salmon and three tablespoons butter. Add three well-beaten egg yolks and salt to taste. Fold in three stiffly-beaten egg whites, and pour into a buttered baking dish. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°, for thirty to thirty-five minutes. Serve at once. Serves eight.

A Supper You Can Get Right After Breakfast

By Sarah Blackwell
 Coffee Service Institute

A PORCH supper is to me the perfect end of a hot summer's day. Tempting sandwiches, a crisp salad, a light dessert, and glasses of ice-cold coffee set out on a card-table in buffet style never fail to cheer my warm, weary family.

One of the nicest features of the porch supper is the preparation of it which can be made in the cool of the morning, rather than in the hot part of the afternoon in a still hotter kitchen. Carefully planned, the meal can be assembled a few minutes before serving.

A wide variety of sandwiches can be made ahead of time, wrapped in waxed paper and put in a cool place. These include sandwiches of brown bread and cream cheese, white bread with date and nut paste, cheese and olives on brown or white bread, anchovy paste and cream cheese, peanut butter and raisin bread.

The always popular potato salad or any of the molded relatiné salads such as tomato jelly salad, vegetable ring, or ham mousse, are made early and put in the refrigerator to be served easily and attractively at the last minute, with crisp lettuce and chilled mayonnaise. Fresh berries, or fruit whips, are unfailing favorites for the porch supper dessert.

Of course in hot weather the most important part of any meal is the deliciously cool drink. The one my family likes best, and quite economical now is iced coffee. Nearly every one knows how to make iced tea, but fewer people know the simple secret of good iced coffee. Iced coffee must be freshly made, just before serving, and poured into tall glasses well filled with cracked ice. Coffee left over from breakfast, or coffee put away to chill in a refrigerator, is never so good, as coffee loses its fragrance and flavor when it stands long after making.

Since the ice naturally dilutes the coffee, you should use twice the usual amount to each cup of water, in brewing. And, important, too, is the correct grind for your method—coarse for pot, medium for percolator, and fine for drip. Fresh coffee, freshly ground, and brewed double strength are the simple rules for perfect iced coffee. Sugar and cream to taste and whipped cream, if you like it, gives the glasses a 40-below-zero look that will revive anyone on a 90-in-the-shade day.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

The untimely passing on of Calvin Coolidge, the only surviving ex-President of the United States, comes at a moment when his qualities of statesmanship are perhaps more widely appreciated than they were even when he sat in the White House. His calm and cautious leadership will long be held in high esteem by the American people.

From the day when as a modest, restrained, silent youth he emerged from Amherst College to take up a lifetime of office holding until the moment of his passing, his every step clearly was directed by some higher power.
That he himself should ever have foreseen the heights to which he rose is incredible. The next step was no doubt always in his mind, but the long ascent to the Presidency, and the hold he attained upon the public affection could by no possibility have found a place in the thought of the Northampton councilman of 1899, or even the President of the Massachusetts Senate in 1912.

But if his career he studied it impresses by its very directness. He climbed to the Presidency as one climbs a long ladder. Only at the top did there seem to be difficulty.
The round which stood for a nomination to the Presidency was missing. The Vice-Presidency, held by politicians to be the door to obscurity, was thrust upon him. Even that, to the superficial eye, seemed to have come without prior planning on his part. It had been refused by men vastly more in the public eye than he. But he took it.

It was the next step—just as the mayoralty of Northampton, the state senatorship, the Lieutenant-Governorship and all the rest of the more or less petty offices held by him were steps in his upward progress. And this, like the rest, led higher, for President Harding, seemingly a model of manly vigor, passed on, and in a Vermont farmhouse, by the dim light of kerosene lamps, Calvin Coolidge was sworn in by his own father to be President.

The Administration that followed saw the high-water mark of American prosperity. If one were asked to cite notable achievements of the Coolidge Administration, the most retentive memory would be baffled. There was nothing more spectacular about it than there had been about the successive steps by which Mr. Coolidge reached the White House. He gave to industry, to commerce, to finance every opportunity to function untroubled by political interference and saw the business of the nation prosper, for the time, as never before in its history.—The Christian Science Monitor.

Coolidges at "The Beeches"

One of the happiest pictures ever made of former President Calvin Coolidge, whose death at his home in Northampton, Mass., has shocked the entire world, shows the ex-President with Mrs. Coolidge soon after they had taken possession of their new home, "The Beeches," at Northampton. It was here that Mr. Coolidge passed away suddenly during a heart attack.

Phoenix, Ariz. Joan concealed her lovely blonde tresses under a red wig

Youth On The Stand

Another in the almost continuous series of ways by means of which to minister to the practical needs of the young life of the community was instituted at the West Medford Baptist Church last Sunday when the first in a series of questionnaires was given out to the young unmarried women of the church and congregation.

Ten pertinent questions appeared on the sheet. The following note of instructions appeared on the bottom of the page: "Please answer each question completely and honestly. Mail or hand the questionnaire to Dr. Dolloff. It is not necessary for you to sign your name or in any other way reveal your identity. Please return to the Pastor within a week."

The subject of this first investigation was "Marry and Her Boy Friends." The several questions follow:

1. What are the three most important characteristics your friend must have?
 2. What characteristics are most disagreeable to you?
 3. Do you object if your friends smoke cigarettes?
 4. Should a Protestant marry a Catholic and vice versa?
 5. What dangers in your judgment, does such "mixed marriages" involve?
 6. Should a difference of religion interfere with friendship?
 7. Does "necking" promote real friendship?
 8. Must your friend surrender any convictions to hold your friendship?
 9. Should a couple marry if it is going to be necessary for the girl to go on working?
 10. What would you like to tell your friend if you dared?
- The spontaneous way in which these questionnaires was received promises some most interesting and profitable information in the near future. The supply, seemingly sufficient large, proved inadequate for all who wanted to answer the questions. For the coming Sunday a far larger number to be prepared.
- After the several questionnaires have been returned, covering a period of five or six weeks, Dr. Dolloff is to carefully collate the findings and then give one or more addresses upon the information gained from the investigation. Any young person, of whatever church or of no church, is invited to share in this research. Answers can be mailed to Dr. Dolloff, from which the name of the person supplying the information should be left off.

His Last Act as President

Mr. Coolidge is shown as he left the White House with Herbert Hoover on the way to the inauguration ceremonies, during which President Coolidge handed over the reins of government to President Hoover.

INTERESTING FACTS

tion and graduated with distinction in the fall of 1907. He made the cruise around the world in the battleship Ohio, and was then ordered to the gunboat Pampanga in the Philippines. Ensign Hovey wrote the first U. S. Naval Officers Watch Officers Manual, the service having used until that time a British book.

In September, 1911, Ensign Hovey volunteered to lead a landing party of twenty-one men on the island of Basilan, to aid the Philippine Scouts to capture a head hunter named Mundang and his band who were doing great damage. They were on his trail almost a week and on the morning of 24 September Hovey's party and the Philippine Scouts had a rendezvous at the hut of a friendly Yacan to receive information of Mundang. Hovey arrived fifteen minutes early, and leading his party 100 feet away, advanced with the interpreter to the hut where the old Yacan was peacefully smoking.

As Hovey and the interpreter drew near, a fusillade rang out from the hut, disclosing a reacherous ambush. Hovey was mortally wounded, and fell at once. He managed to fire his gun several times, killing and wounding some of the enemy. As his men stepped up, a hospital corpsman stopped to aid Hovey, but Hovey waived him on to the fight, and his last words were "Get on the job, McGuire!"

Hovey's death was the only one among the American landing party, although several were wounded seriously. The head hunter's band was broken up and Mundang was killed a week later. Hovey is buried in the churchyard of the old church in Portsmouth, of which his father had been the rector.

During the last fiscal year the Hovey steamed 22,473.8 miles, including several trips from her base at San Diego to San Francisco and Puget Sound and a trip to Honolulu with the Fleet. She visited Olympia, Tacoma, Seattle, Aberdeen, Astoria, Marshfield, Mare Island, Oakland, San Francisco, Hilo, LaHaina, and Pearl Harbor.

The Hovey is a small, self-contained community in herself. Not least among her problems is the preparation of three meals a day for one hundred and thirty odd persons in a galley (or kitchen) no larger than a good sized apartment kitchen, and in all kinds of weather. This is very efficiently done by the three men detailed to the work. Some idea of the magnitude of their task may be gathered by contemplating the quantity of provisions used. For example, in a year, the Hovey used over 11 tons of bread, half a ton of flour, a ton and one half of bacon, nearly two tons of ham, over five tons of beef, two tons of pork, a ton of string beans, over eleven tons of potatoes, a ton and one half of oranges, etc.

It costs about $26,000 per year to feed the complement of the Hovey. In fuel and lubricating oil it costs about 18 cents to drive the Hovey one sea mile at ten knots and about one dollar ten cents for one mile at thirty knots. Other annual costs are about as follows:

Pay and allowances	$110,000
Fuel and lubricating oil	9,250
Fuel for boats	1,700
Food	26,000
Ammunition	3,000
Maintenance and upkeep	51,800

Total $201,750
This total does not include original cost, depreciation, hospitalization, etc., but it is clear that your boy, or your friend in the Hovey is engaged in a big business. In return for this outlay of funds the Hovey and the other units of the National Defense keep constantly prepared for emergencies, insuring the safety of the people and their property at home or abroad, wherever their lawful occasions may take them. In this they follow the wisdom of George Washington, who, on 8 January, 1790, said "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

In addition to the many men trained to be efficient men-of-war, during the last year the Hovey returned to civil life ten men with honorable discharges. These men have learned a trade, have learned discipline, order and adaptability and have broadened their vision by wide contacts. They will unquestionably make good citizens and be assets to the communities in which they settle.

Noted Food Expert Gives Illustrated Lecture At Roberts

Mrs. Naomi B. Cranney, of the department of Nutritional Research of a well known baking concern, was the guest speaker at the weekly assembly of the Roberts Junior High school yesterday.

Mrs. Cranney spoke on why pupils should eat fresh foods and the health giving powers of several vitamins. As illustrations of her lecture, Mrs. Cranney presented colored slides, showing the comparative pictures of the effects of the vitamins on human beings and animals.

Medford Theatre
Most motion pictures end with a wedding—but Marie Dressler, aided and abetted by Polly Moran, reverse the usual order and start in with a wedding in "Prosperity," opening Sunday at the Medford Theatre.

That is, they got everything ready for a wedding—and then there's an hilarious fight which puts the kibosh on the ceremony and sends the bride and groom scuttling away to the mayor's office to be married in peace in a nice noisy city hall.

"Prosperity" shows the popular comedienne as mothers-in-law who try to regulate the lives of their married children and battle vigorously between themselves in the process. The locale is a small town and the hilarious complications come fast and furious in the action of the comedy romance.

Anita Page and Norman Foster are seen as the married children with Jacquelin Lyn, Jerry Tucker, Charles Gibby, Frank Darien and Henry Arnetta completing the cast, under the direction of Sam Wood, who produced "Huddle."

The versatile Miss Dressler also contributes some exceptional character work in the dramatic scenes in which she plans the stirring sacrifice that precipitates a touching denouement to the riot of laughs.

"The Sport Parade" the companion picture of the bill, is the kind of a picture that uses action, nor words, to tell its story. It is the type of diversion we can wholeheartedly recommend to entertainment seekers slightly wearied of full-dress draw-room drama.

There is an honest sincere study of the plight of the college hero, who goes out into the world with his chest loaded with medals only to find out that yesterday's college hero is today's forgotten man.

A Charlie Chase comedy will complete the program for the first four days of the week.

—Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Grove of Bellegarde, Me., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Myron Whitman, 35 Sagamore park, West Medford.

Bank Commissioner
Sues Directors Of
Bancroft Trust Co.

Arthur Guy, bank commissioner, in charge of the closed Bancroft Trust Co., bank of Worcester, yesterday filed suit against the directors of the company for $1,750,000 and caused the real estate of the directors to be attached in the registry of deeds.

It was said at the courthouse that the suit is one of several that have been brought to recover in the interests of the depositors of the closed bank.

Newton Employees To Contest Pay Cut
The legality of the 7-1-2 per cent salary reduction ordered by Mayor Weeks of Newton for all city employees will be contested in an action to be brought soon in Newton district court, Lt. Nicholas Vedroco, chairman of the Newton police committee leading the policemen's protest, said yesterday.

Mayor Weeks yesterday sent notices to 234 policemen represented at a recent hearing that his decision to effect the reduction has been reaffirmed. The notices read:

I have determined that this rate of salary is proper compensation for the year 1933. My reason for this is that I believe the taxpayers of this city expect this reduction in view of economic conditions; such reduction being in fact consistent with the purchasing value of your salary when first established.

—Edward J. Myer of 110 Allston street, is recovering from an attack of grippe.

PROPOSAL

Sealed bids for furnishing the Medford High School Lunchroom will be received by the Superintendent of Buildings at the City of Medford, until 5:00 P. M. January 12, 1933, at which time the bids will be opened and read at 7:00 P. M. Bids must be accompanied by a check for $100.00, payable to the order of the City of Medford, as a guarantee of the bidder's ability to perform the contract. Full specifications on application to the Superintendent of Buildings, High School, Medford, Mass.

"Sacrament" Theme Of Lesson-Sermon At Churches of Christ

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "To do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased" (Hebrews 13:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus said unto them, I am the bread of life: he that cometh to me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on me shall never thirst" (John 6:35).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "To understand all our Master's sayings as recorded in the New Testament, sayings infinitely important, his followers must grow into that stature of manhood in Christ Jesus which enables them to interpret his spiritual meaning. Then they know how Truth casts out error and heals the sick. His words were the off-spring of his deeds, both of which must be understood" (p. 350).

More Canners Are Now Using Graded Products

Canners are buying an increasing share of their fresh fruits and vegetables on the basis of grades developed by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to William E. Lewis of that bureau, addressing the New York State Vegetable Growers' Association at Rochester, New York.

Approximately 275,000 tons of fruits and vegetables—principally tomatoes—for canning or manufacture, were inspected on the basis of United States grades during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1932. The work was done by the bureau in cooperation with the States at about 250 canning plants or receiving stations in eleven States. The products inspected included tomatoes, apples, spinach, red sour cherries, pears, and juice grapes.

The speaker announced "there is an insistent demand for grades for other fruits and vegetables for canning use," and said, "the bureau is now studying grades for sweet corn for canning." He said that the use of grades is yielding better prices to producers, encouraging producers to grow better quality foods, and enabling canners to effect economies in canning operation costs. Consumers, he declared, are getting better values for their money.

Some canners, in addition to using grades in buying their raw stocks, are beginning to designate the canned foods by means of consumer grades printed on the label. These grades were also developed by the bureau.

League of Nations Examination For High School Pupils

Registrations for the National Competitive Examination on the League of Nations, open to high school students in the 48 States, were invited in an announcement sent out today to principals and teachers by the Education committee of the League of Nations Association, 6 East 39th street, New York. The examination, which has been held annually six times before, will take place March 24th and first prize, as in other years, will be a free trip to Europe, featuring a visit to Geneva, headquarters of the League of Nations. Cash awards will be given for the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh places and, in addition, local and regional prizes will be given by individual branches of the Association.

Inquiries to date indicate that the number of competitors this year will exceed even last year's high mark when a record total of 1,392 high schools from every state in the Union registered. Over 10,000 students prepared for the contest won by Robert Spencer Whitlow, Tulsa, Oklahoma, high school student.

Contestants this year will have the advantage of a new textbook on which to base their work. A Brief History of the League of Nations, just issued by the Association at National Headquarters. The history, which covers the work of Geneva up until the middle of December devotes special attention to disarmament and the Sino-Japanese dispute over Manchuria.

In a foreword to the history, Professor Harry J. Carman of Columbia University, acting chairman of the Education Committee, says:

"In times like these it is the clear duty of all directors to see that students under their direction are adequately informed regarding the world's existing peace machinery. Without regard to the relation of the United States to the League of Nations, no educated person in our interdependent civilization should be without knowledge of the League. The review which follows, does not fail, we believe, to point out certain weaknesses in the League, and to recount its failures, as well as its creditable list of accomplishments."

Bill Filed To Permit Advance Payment Of Taxes

Representative Daniel J. Morarty of Lowell, yesterday filed with the clerk of the Massachusetts House of Representatives the petition of Mayor Charles H. Slowey of Lowell for legislation to permit advance payments on account of taxes for real estate and personal property.

Last year, Mayor Slowey secured the passage of a similar temporary act, limited to one year. He now seeks to have the statute made permanent, continuing, however, the provision which makes it effective only upon approval of the Mayor and City Council of Selection.

The Slowey bill would permit a property owner "from time to time prior to Sept. 1 to pay to the collector of taxes an amount or amounts not exceeding in the aggregate 90 percent of the amount of the tax. The bill provides that these installment payments could not be less than 10 percent of the tax, or in any event less than $5.

Argument Results In Fine of $15 At Court

Wm. Percy Brown of Wolcott street, Malden, was fined $15 on a plea of guilty to assault on Francis J. Connors of Fallway at Pleasant and Abbott streets several days ago, by Judge Davis at court yesterday on a plea of guilty. The evidence showed that Brown was driving an auto and that he nearly hit Connors at the corner. Connors asked Brown what he meant and it was claimed that Brown assaulted Connors, giving him, among other things, a black eye. The complainant addressed the court giving his opinion of Brown. The defendant said he was without funds, and was given to the 25th to pay.

Held in $2,000 On Flim Flam Game In Which $1,000 Involved

Peter J. Zalchak, 36, claiming to reside at 46 Upton street, Boston, pleaded not guilty and was held in $2,000 for trial on the 14th charged with accessory before the fact of the larceny of $1,000 from Nellie W. Swinck of 211 Vernon street, Wakefield, at court yesterday.

Sergt. Gates told the court that the defendant was in a party of four who claimed to have placed $900 in a box with her $1,000 and then went away. The defendant was arrested on Washington street, near Dedham, Boston.

Police alleged that on Dec. 27th Mrs. Swinck was approached by two men who wanted to buy her house. They offered a good price which she is reported to have accepted. As evidence of good faith they agreed to put $1,000 in a box if she would do likewise, and leave the box with her for safekeeping. She put the money in the box and they had $900 which they apparently put in the box. After they had gone, Mrs. Swinck became suspicious and pried open the box. She found only some newspaper clippings. She notified the police.

Patrolman Russell and Sergt. Gates, working on a partial auto registration supplied them, went to Boston Thursday saw the auto on East Dedham street, and when they approached, the auto speeded away. They gave chase, overhauled the car, arrested Zalchak and recovered $462 in cash and a money order for $500 dated Dec. 27th.

Will Recommend Full Salaries If Budget Rejected

plan would not result in curtailment of activities by the departments, then it proved that at present the departments were very much overmanned.

Mr. Watson Speaks

Ralph W. Watson, another member of the special committee, made a statement at some length in which he questioned the amount which would be saved by the mayor's plan, compared with the expenditures of the 1933 city government, and declaring the net saving would be much less than had been estimated. He read from a prepared statement:

Mr. Watson said: "As a member of the Special committee on Finance, I feel it my duty to answer the Mayor with regard to his statement made on last Wednesday, with regard to the report submitted by the committee of which I am a member.

"I appear before you, not as a person desiring to quarrel, or in any way be antagonistic toward his Honor the Mayor, rather I have served on this committee, and am here tonight, with one thought in mind, that is, to cooperate in every way, to help reduce the burden of taxation now being carried by the taxpayers of Medford.

"Every member of the committee worked hard and faithfully, without thought as to politics, and with only the best interest of the taxpayers of Medford at heart.

"The Mayor has pointed out several errors in the report of this committee, and has stated that it was impossible for this committee to bring in a report that would be accurate in its entirety, as the committee by necessity, had to use the figures shown in the 1931 report in most cases.

"The Mayor has stated that certain items contained in our report were eliminated during 1932, and I wish to give his honor due credit for the same.

"I am not defending this report, rather am I urging that this board compare in detail the items therein, with the same items contained in the Mayor's budget. I cannot agree with the statement that most of the items contained in this report are 'out the window'.

"It is true, that on Wednesday night many of the items contained in the budget were apparently approved by you without discussion, at that time you had before you only the total figures shown in the Mayor's budget; you were unable to make a fair comparison with the items shown in the special committee report.

"On Wednesday night, however, the mayor offered, at Mr. Martin's suggestion, to place before you tonight the itemized schedules making up the totals shown for each department. It is also true, however, that the only items in the budget voted upon were Aldermen's salaries and contingent fund, and the opportunity is still before you to accept any suggestion that came in our report that will benefit the taxpayers of Medford.

"Should Make Deductions "It appears from a comparison of the totals of 1932 expenditures and the 1933 budget, that there will be an approximate saving to the city of $413,233.00.

"In my opinion, the saving to the city in 1933 will not even approach this figure. In making a fair comparison, I believe the following items should be deducted from the amount of $413,233.00.

"The receipts from the contributory system amounting to approximately $93,565.00, the difference between the amount contained in the Mayor's budget of $100,000.00 for the welfare and the amount appropriated in 1932 of $238,500.00, a difference of $138,500.00.

"Also the difference in the amount contained in the Mayor's budget of $30,000.00 for Old Age Assistance, and the amount expended in 1932 of $38,582.21, a difference of $8,582.21.

"Also a difference contained in the Mayor's budget of $40,000.00 for Soldiers' Relief, and the amount expended in 1932 of $58,735.73, a difference of $18,735.73.

"Also the difference in the amount contained in the Mayor's budget of $50,000.00 for State Aid and the amount expended in 1932 of $6,507.85, a difference of $43,492.15. In addition to the above items there is included under the 1932 expenditures $21,366.23 for new equipment in the Highway Department, as against the amount in the 1933 budget of $10,000.00, a difference of $11,366.23.

"There is also contained in the 1932 expenditures an item of $5, and of course no amount for claims is shown in the 1933 budget.

"Saves Only $114,072 "The total of the above enumerated items amounts to $299,210.87, or an actual estimated reduction in 1933 department expenditures of $114,072.13.

"In speaking of the comparative values of the contributory system, and the day-off per week, the Mayor stated that the day-off per week basis enabled him to reduce the budget and thereby reduce the tax rate in 1933.

"Now, in making up the tax rate, the estimated receipts are taken into account, and I do not see any reason why, under the contributory system, the anticipated receipts could not be anticipated and used in making the 1933 tax rate. At this point I wish to bring out the fact, that in making up the tax rate for 1933, not only can the amount of the total of the day-off per week plan, or the anticipated revenue from the contributory system be used, but also by a resolution by the Board of Aldermen the amount of approximately $110,000.00 which will have accumulated by February 1, under the contributory plan of 1932 could be used in lowering the tax rate.

"In comparing the day-off per week and the contributory systems, the approximate reduction in payrolls, under the day-off per week plan are as follows:

Per Cent of Reductions "In the Police and Fire Departments 10 per cent. School Teachers 10 per cent. Other School departments 10 per cent. City Hall, Highway, Water, Park and Cemetery Departments 16 2-3 per cent.

"Under the contributory system, with the exception of Heads of Departments, the reduction in the City Hall, Highway, Water, Park and Cemetery Departments, would be 10 per cent. Under Police and Fire Departments, with the exception of Heads of Departments, the reduction would be approximately 10 per cent. In the School Department, with the exception of the heads of Departments, the reduction would be approximately 10 per cent. We therefore find upon this comparison that the day-off per week plan exceeds the contributory plan in the city hall, Highway, Water, Park, and Cemetery Departments, by 6 2-3 per cent, and in the other Departments of the city, the reduction under both plans is the same.

"Under the Contributory plan, however, with its graduated plan of reduction, the Heads of Departments, throughout the city, are reduced, approximately 10 per cent greater than that shown, under the day-off week plan.

Is There Excess Labor? "The Mayor states that Heads of Departments have advised that the day-off plan will not weaken the efficiency of their departments, and that there will be no curtailment of services under this plan. If this is the case, there is only one answer, and that is, that there is an excessive number of people on the payroll of the city of Medford at this time.

"Under the Contributory plan, each employee of the City would work full time, thereby giving the city the benefit of his whole time, rather than taking a day off without pay. When you consider that the payroll of the city is approximately $2,100,000.00 a year, you grasp some idea of the benefit that the Contributory plan has over the day-off per week plan.

Why Cuts Not Urged "The Mayor on Wednesday night, asked the question, 'If the committee was so anxious to have cuts made, why didn't it bring in recommendations and amend ordinances making salary reductions?' This subject was discussed in the committee, and after much consideration, the committee felt it much better to allow the various employees to voluntarily come in under the Contributory Plan.

The committee, furthermore, felt that it should not single out various individuals, and that the straight Contributory system would work for harmony and cooperation in all departments.

"The special committee did not reduce or recommend any reduction in the budget for 1933, on account of Welfare, Old Age Assistance, Soldiers' Relief, or State Aid, because it appeared to the committee that conditions in 1933 will call for the expenditure of amounts equal in these departments to those expended in 1932, and although the Mayor stated, when he submitted the budget that the budget was final with the exception of Welfare and Soldiers' Relief, I feel that the actual difference in dollars and cents shown in the budget, as against 1932 expenditures should be brought to attention. The Mayor stated that the Soldiers' Relief department increased its expenditures in 1932 to $66,000.00, as compared to $42,000.00 in 1931, showing the trend of expenditures in this department.

"The Mayor stated that an additional expenditure was made on account of Old Age Assistance of some $30,000.00 over 1931, showing the trend of expenditures in this department.

"With regard to married women, the committee felt that if the board accepted this suggestion that the heads of departments would co-operate in this matter and substitute dependent women as soon as possible.

"The Mayor stated on Wednesday night that the committee should have found out how long ago he took up the matter of rates charged the city at the Lawrence Memorial hospital. In reply to this, the committee invited Mrs. St. Denis and other members of the Welfare Board to appear before it in December. At that meeting, Mrs. St. Denis informed the committee that the Lawrence Memorial hospital at that time was charging the City of Medford the same rates for Welfare cases that they charged anyone else. For my part I felt that this statement could be relied upon, coming from the head of the Welfare department. If the Mayor has arranged for special rates on Welfare cases, then he should be given full credit for the same.

Suspend Increases "With regard to the suspension of automatic increases the committee was well aware of the fact that with regard to the School department this came under the functions of the School Committee. With regard to the suspension of automatic increases in the Fire and Police Departments, the committee was well aware of the fact that this required adoption by the Board of Aldermen. Both of these items were brought in as suggestions, the committee feeling that in these days when any person is fortunate enough to be working, that increases in salaries were not in order.

New Rates Meant "With regard to the street-lighting contract, the committee knew that this contract was made in 1923 but also realized that the same expires in May of 1933. The committee made no suggestion of a forfeiture of the present contract but merely recommended the new rates be talked over before a new contract was signed.

The Mayor stated he would not take away the vacations enjoyed by City Employees, believing that they have as much right to a vacation as other employees. The committee recommended that City Employees take two weeks vacation, one with pay and one without. This is entirely in order and comparable with the action taken by practically all business concerns.

"With regard to borrowing money, I personally interviewed one of the largest banks in Boston and discussed this subject. The Vice-President of this bank with whom I talked stated that so far as he knew his bank had been called upon to bid for only one loan from the City of Medford in 1932, and that was the last bond issue of $42,000.00. He

furthermore stated that it was his opinion that the City could obtain more advantageous rates through a public offering.

Reduction in Rent "The committee had before it the owners of the building housing the City Hall offices. We were offered a reduction of $1000.00 a year provided a lease for three years was signed. The committee talked over the building of a city hall and compared the expense to the city of having its own city hall and that of continuing at its present location. When it was taken into consideration that money has value, and the interest on an approximate cost to build this City Hall of approximately $400,000.00 would be at least $14,000.00, and in addition thereto an increased cost of lighting, janitor service, heating, and other incidentals which would add at least another $10,000.00, it can readily be seen that the committee felt this to be out of the question. The committee felt that although the building of the City Hall would bring added employment, few of the residents of Medford would be used by the contractor.

"With regard to the suggestion of changing the Aldermanic chamber, the committee talked this matter over with the School Committee. The School Committee stated that they would cooperate and attempt to find space in one of the school buildings.

Insurance Reserve "The item of Insurance was given much consideration by this committee, and we felt that only those portions of Municipal Buildings that were not fire-proof should be insured. We felt that this would allow for a material reduction for insurance costs, but did suggest in our report that an amount of $10,000.00 be reduced in the budget for insurance expenditure, and that this amount be set up in a special fund for an insurance reserve, believing that in years to come this reserve would be large enough to take care of all possible fire losses and thus eliminate the item of insurance expenditure from the budget.

In concluding, I wish to again state that the remarks are made only with all thought to do what ever I can to help reduce the burden carried by the tax payers of Medford. There is no feeling of animosity on my part toward anyone, and I desire to do all in my power to cooperate with his Honor, the Mayor, and the Board of Aldermen, that will react to the mutual benefit of the Citizens and tax payers of Medford.

Mayor Burke Replies "Mayor John H. Burke replied that within 24 hours of the time the budget was submitted, practically fifty per cent of the budget had been considered and approved by the aldermen. He said he discussed the special committee's report and said that the recommendations were based upon the 1932 expenditures, and that half the savings recommended by the special committee in its report had already been made by the mayor in 1932. The mayor said he had no desire to have any controversy with anyone but he believed that the fact and figures should be presented.

He said that on Aug. 2, the resolution by President Norton for the creation of the special committee had been presented and passed by the board and that Norton spoke in behalf of the resolution from the floor. Mayor Burke declared that he still agreed with the purpose of the resolution but that he believed the board had no authority to create such a committee. He declared that the committee had been brought in a report, not in keeping with the wording of the resolution, but foreign to it.

Thanks Committee "As chief executive, he said he now publicly expressed the thanks of the city to the men who had given so freely of their time and effort in preparing the report. He further declared that their report was helpful to him in making up his first budget.

Alderman Sanford declared that he was unqualifiedly opposed to the budget as recommended by the mayor and he moved to refer the budget back to the mayor.

Alderman Sanford said: "I wish, at this time, to take the opportunity to speak on this budget. You will recall that during our discussion of this budget on last Wednesday evening, his Honor, the Mayor, made the statement that he thought this was an equitable budget and if there was anyone who could show him a better plan he would appreciate it.

"Now I wish to state that I am absolutely and unqualifiedly opposed to this budget that the Mayor has presented to this Board and I also am desirous of cooperating with his Honor the Mayor to the end that a proper and equitable budget be submitted to this Board. Following are the reasons for which I am opposed to the budget before us.

"The unfairness of distribution of the burden on employees.

"Impairment of efficiency in the Police Department which is bound to result.

"The Mayor's plan was too steep. He said many of the laborers were present and would like to be heard.

Thomas F. O'Connors, who said he represented some of the laborers, was given the privilege of the floor. He said the members of the committee had not thought the matter was to come up tonight and so were not present. He would be glad to answer questions. Alderman Hassett asked what he suggested in place of the mayor's plan. Connors replied a ten per cent contribution or a little more.

Donoghue—How much more? Connors—Three dollars a week.

Hassett—How many city employees do you represent?

Connors—Not all of them—most of them.

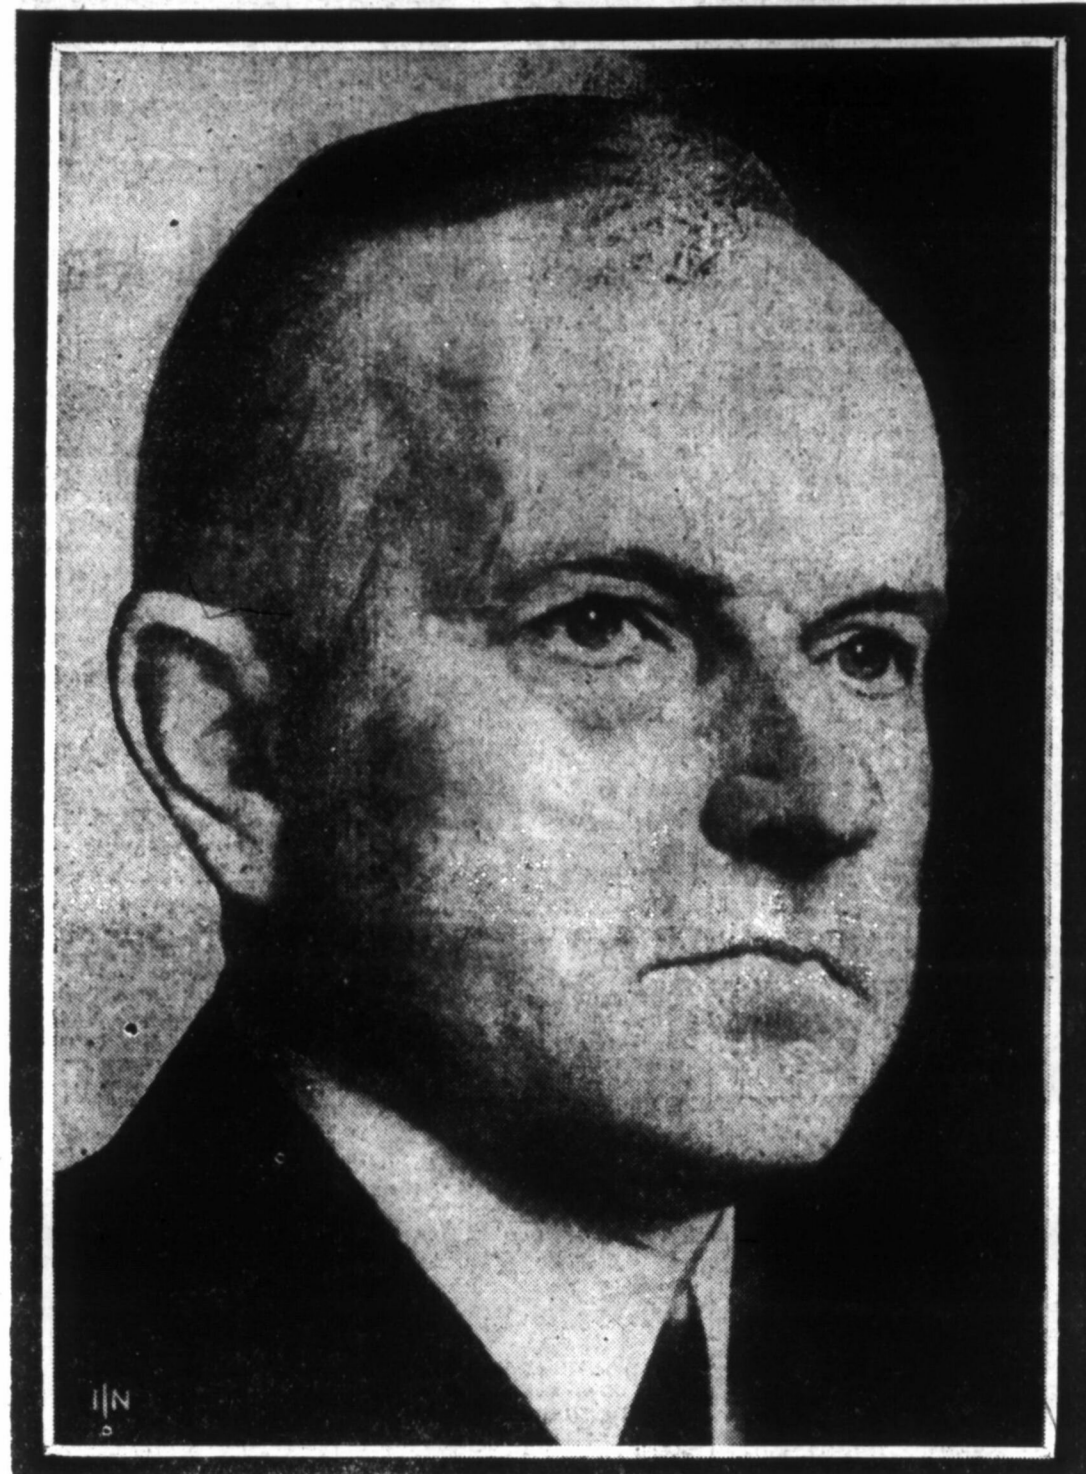

Alderman Sanford asked regarding the legality of the action of the board if it approved the mayor's recommendations, if the city officials could come back for the balance of their pay or if the aldermen would be liable?

City Solicitor Peters said that the ordinance fixed the salaries; that the board could not increase them without changing the ordinances, but that he knew of no reason where, by agreement, an official could not turn back some of the money he received, or agree to accept less temporarily. He said that in the matter of wages, they were not established by ordinance.

The mayor, answering questions, said he knew the budget plan was unpopular but that many unpopular things had to be done. He declared passing the budget he had recommended would not affect the legality of the board's act one iota. He said he admitted it might be illegal to recommend sums less than the ordinances required but that the board had forced him to make such recommendations. If the board wants to reject this budget, he'll submit the full amount of the ordinance recommendations on salaries. Any one of you could have acted, as members of the board, to reduce the salary ordinances. All I have to do is to recommend salaries as set forth in the ordinances which are created by this board of aldermen.

Alderman Spofford wanted to know if there was any movement to make the employees work on the days they were given off without pay. The mayor said such was not his understanding of the matter, except in the case of school employees.

furthermore stated that it was his opinion that the City could obtain more advantageous rates through a public offering.

Reduction in Rent "The committee had before it the owners of the building housing the City Hall offices. We were offered a reduction of $1000.00 a year provided a lease for three years was signed. The committee talked over the building of a city hall and compared the expense to the city of having its own city hall and that of continuing at its present location. When it was taken into consideration that money has value, and the interest on an approximate cost to build this City Hall of approximately $400,000.00 would be at least $14,000.00, and in addition thereto an increased cost of lighting, janitor service, heating, and other incidentals which would add at least another $10,000.00, it can readily be seen that the committee felt this to be out of the question. year's budget of $3,014,621.52 and the saving is $219,598.70. He believed Mr. Watson right in his report on the amounts stated, so that the net saving in this year's budget was further cut to $162,285.

He said the city laborers were willing to give ten per cent but the mayor's plan was too steep. He said many of the laborers were present and would like to be heard.

"Impairment in the efficiency of the Fire Department.

"Impairment of the efficiency in the School Department.

"If we pass this budget we are exposing the City to Law suits for recovery of illegal deduction of salary. General Chapter 44; Section 32A.

"The morale of City Employees of all classifications will be lowered.

"By having welfare department which is already overburdened, handle Old Age Assistance cases, both departments are bound to suffer.

"Because I am convinced that the Tax-payers, while demanding a lower Tax Rate, also demand that there be no letting down in service rendered them.

"I am firmly convinced that a 5 and 10 per cent voluntary contribution under the same conditions as in 1932 will solve the problem in an equitable manner. In fact Mr. President I believe that if the sum which would accrue, under this plan from Feb. 1, to last of June, 1933 was combined with the total accumulation of 1932, that a cut of close to one half million dollars can be made in expenditures. This of course would include all cuts in departmental expenditures other than through his 'day off without pay' policy."

Chairman Spofford, ruling on the motion to return the budget to Mayor Burke, ruled that the motion was not in order. He ruled that the board could reject the budget, or could reduce the recommendations therein contained.

Must Take Blame "Mayor Burke stated that if the board rejected the budget, he would submit another with the full salaries of employees, as stated in the ordinances, recommended and that the aldermen would have to accept the full responsibility for the tax rate which would result. He would predict that the tax rate would be at least $3 higher if such a thing happened.

Alderman Hassett believed the mayor and board should get together and report an equitable budget and not throw so heavy a burden of the cuts on those least able to bear it.

Alderman Twombly wanted to know why the mayor could not figure the budget again, basing the pay reductions on the five and ten per cent plan just as well as he was able to figure it out on his days off without pay plan.

Mayor Burke answered that under the five and ten per cent plan the total received for eleven months was about $92,000 while under his plan a reduction of $81,000 was made in the school department alone.

Alderman Donoghue wanted to know how much the total saving in salaries would be under his plan. Mayor Burke replied he had not figured that out in that manner. He said the budget was $400,000 less than the departments had asked for.

Alderman Donoghue said he estimated a saving of $207,914 in salaries and that if the appropriation for salaries was $2,200,000 it would be less than ten per cent. He said he estimated the net saving of $195,492 under the special committee's plan.

He said that $93,585 was the total of the voluntary contributions to Dec. 31st and the money did not go out of the city treasury.

Deducting the $93,585 from the 1932 budget of $3,427,905.22 left $3,334,320.32. Deducting this

Alderman Nicholson moved the board proceed with consideration of the budget with the proviso that the city laborers be heard before final action on the budget is taken.

The board, by roll call, then voted to proceed with the budget Yes 14, No 3, as follows:

To proceed—Aldermen Alden, Campbell, Cheatham, Fuller, Higgins, Holland, Inman, Martini, Nicholson, O'Sullivan, Prescott, Prior, Cpoofford, Twombly—14.

Against proceeding—Aldermen Donoghue, Hassett and Sanford—3.

Alderman Hassett declared he believed the department heads should be present for questioning and so he moved adjournment until they could be called at another meeting. Adjournment was then taken.
